JIBC is clearly growing in the stature and readership, which is quite encouraging. Our new Chief Editor Prof. Nikhil Agarwal and the renewed Editorial Board have come up with a number of great ideas on repositioning the Journal as a true leader in global ecommerce, increasing its academic level and visibility and attracting new readers. Again, I appeal to our readers and contributors to actively support Prof. Agarwal and advise him on how to achieve JIBC challenging objectives.

Again I am asking each and every one of you, our readers and subscribers, to email JIBC to at least 3 of your colleagues, friends and discussion groups that you are participating at, and recommend that they also subscribe.

As well, I am challenging all the current and past authors and editors to email your articles -- along with the rest of JIBC edition -- to at least 10 of your peers and colleagues in academia, government and industry. Make sure they are aware of your articles and the Journal of Internet Banking and Commerce! Recommend that they also subscribe to email editions. After all, we only send it around 3 times a year.

A special appeal to ecommerce/ebusiness students to pass a word about JIBC to your professors and classmates and, more important, to ask them to supply new articles and tell everybody to subscribe.

Let's spread the word!
