JIBC is growing, and as a part of new opportunities we are looking for two new key members of our editorial team to act as Assistant Editors. The candidates should be open to evolving responsibilities, have strong research, organizational and communication skills, ability to work both independently and with the JIBC editorial team, proficiency at multitasking, and be passionate about the newly emerging field of electronic banking and commerce. Past editors have used the position as a staging ground for the leading positions in the global academia and industry.

For a highly qualified person well familiar with HTML and looking for a world-class career in ecommerce, these positions opens unparalleled opportunities to work closely with a wide range of international scholars, to learn the modern online publishing ropes, to develop familiarity with the style guides and establish useful academic and industrial connections. It provides an excellent opportunity to hone your editing and time management skills, to gain experience in academic publishing, and to actively develop an understanding of issues considered of great import to the electronic banking and commerce.

Successful candidates will help JIBC Editor-in-Chief Prof. Nikhil Agarwal and our Managing Editor Dr. Xin "Robert" Luo in working with the JIBC authors to ensure high academic quality contributions and preparing submissions for our leading publication. They will provide the editorial input on the articles' fitness for publication, and perform formatting of each article to ensure that their language, layout and style meet academic standards.

As we only issue JIBC three times a year, the volunteer Assistant Editors will be asked to commit just 2-3 hours of work per week performed on their own schedule. Please send your CV to JIBC Chief Editor Prof. Nikhil Agarwal or myself if you would like to participate and contribute to our advanced global community.
